

Ira Katznelson, Ruggles Professor of Political Science and History at Columbia University, spoke at the Mershon Center on May 5, 2010. His lecture, titled "Shaded by Fear: The New Deal and its Legacies," was co-sponsored by the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences and the College of Arts and Humanities.

Ira Katznelson, Ruggles Professor of Political Science and History at Columbia University, lectured at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies on May 5, 2010. His talk, titled "Shaded by Fear: The New Deal and its Legacies," was based on a book he is currently completing titled Fear Itself, which deals with American democracy from the New Deal to the Cold War.

Ira Katznelson (center), Ruggles Professor of Political Science and History at Columbia University, posed with Harvey Graff (left), Ohio Eminent Scholar in Literacy Studies and Professor of English and History at The Ohio State University, and Kevin Cox (right), Distinguished University Professor of Geography at The Ohio State University, after delivering his lecture titled, "Shaded by Fear: The New Deal and its Legacies." Katznelson visited the Mershon Center for International Security Studies on May 5, 2010. His lecture was co-sponsored by the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, the College of Arts and Humanities, and the Mershon Center for International Security Studies.